Firm Partner Christina Zivitz and Hollingsworth & Zivitz Law Clerk Casandra Ringlespaugh to be subjects of a Female Focus feature on FOX 59 TV

October 28, 2011 (CARMEL) Rookie Colts Cheerleader Casandra Ringlespaugh and veteran Colts Cheerleader Christina Zivitz will be featured on FOX 59's Female Focus, a regular segment dedicated to the accomplishments of Indianapolis area women. Reported by FOX 59 anchor Angela Ganote, the story will discuss how Casandra Ringlespaugh has found the ideal mentor in more ways than one.

Casandra, presently a law clerk at Hollingsworth & Zivitz, is a student at the I-U School of Law. She plans to pass the bar and become a full-fledged attorney in the Spring of 2012. She balances her work and study with the new experience of being a first-year cheerleader for the Indianapolis Colts.

Meanwhile, firm partner and attorney Christina Zivitz was a Colts Cheerleader for four years in the early 2000's. She was also the Colts representative cheerleader at the 2002 Pro Bowl. Today she remains actively involved with the NFL Cheerleader Alumni, not to mention mentoring Cassie on two fronts, law and cheerleading.

Included in the FOX 59 feature is the advice Zivitz gives Casandra on balancing a legal career and her on-the-field experience with the Colts.

Cassandra talks about how becoming part of the Colts squad is the climax of an almost lifelong cheerleading career and the excitement of that experience, coupled with her upcoming career as an attorney.

The entire story will unfold during the 4:00PM FOX 59 Newscast on Monday, November 7th.*
